Experience and Knowledge

Risk International and its Associates have been fortunate over the years (53) to have developed an massive body of knowledge and gained a great amount of experience, in many phases of the Entertainment Industry and all its divisions, as well as Educational Performing Arts, i.e. theatre, facilities, music, movies, television, dance, and educational productions.

We have also specialized in Public Assembly and the Regulations that govern this area; Federal Regulations dealing with the Construction Industry; EPA and the Risk Safety Management Process of OSHA; Security Systems; and ten years involvement in the Brokerage and Carrier divisions of the world-wide Insurance Industry.

Risk International & Associates, Inc. has also specialized in the presentation and instruction in liability areas dealing with the Entertainment and Public Assembly industries, Education, and Heavy Industry.

We have written a large number of written articles and materials in the above stated areas that we use in our professional instructional presentations and Risk Management Master Classes and Workshops.

There are fifty-nine distinct categories of instructions that we can draw from and each of them has a specific focus, dependent upon the type of audiences or groups we are working with or instructing. A list of these will accompany this document.

Our flexibility in these types of presentations has greatly contributed to the excellence and focus of our risk management work. Entertainment and Educational groups, at all levels, have participated in our programs and found them beneficial.

Types of Instruction for Special Groups

- 1. Instruction and interfacing with any type of university or college classroom, shop, or fine arts situation.
- 2. Lectures to Drama or Theatrical Clubs, at all levels of education and business as to health, safety, liability and environmental practices.
- 3. Instruction and workshops for all those individuals and departments who have decision making positions, i.e. Boards of Directors, Presidents of Universities and Colleges, Administrative Groups, Staff and Technical support groups, Maintenance and Facility directors groups, and Entertainment Department Chair persons.
- 4. Instruction and workshops for staff, and rank and file personnel of facilities, i.e. convention centers, fine arts facilities, managers of departments, and service organizations.
- 5. Classroom instruction for one class time period or for a day, or for a week, or a semester.
- 6. We also offer risk management workshops from one day to nine days in specialized areas.

We have been conducting these types of workshops, lectures, and classroom interactions for many decades, in a number of countries on five continents, with many corporations, principalities, and entertainment industry clients.

Many of these risk management areas of instruction can be integrated with your standard curriculum courses and with the federally required health and safety instruction mandated by 29CFR1910, the OSHA Act.

Please contact Risk International so that we may provide you with our professional services in the areas described.

Respectfully,
